Foreword

The complexity of man's life - the rush for intellectual attainment, for new inventions - calls for something more than mere human existence. It calls for involvement. Involvement is the button that pushes man years ahead of himself. Involvement is a necessity for being a real person.

Yet the man who is totally involved is inadequate if he lacks feeling for the simple things in life, a reverence for peace. He is incomplete if the foundation of his personality does not rest upon faith in mankind and in God.

Metallic masses on one side - natural serenity on the other - St. Agnes lies geographically isolated. Yet we are psychologically involved. We are ever fastened by the growing limbs of progress to the pulsating life within the city - Houston. Cultivating a love of life, St. Agnes teaches and practices those ideals which are pertinent to each generation. Unable and unwilling to escape the far reaches of progress, she instills in her students this goal - the aim of total involvement.

It is our hope that through the following pages, you, the reader, may see a year of involvement in our lives - their simplicities and their complexities.

"MARRIAGE IS A partnership" explains Mr. Jim McCauley.

FAMILIAR FACES GREET
Father John P. McGinnis.

"MY GROUP HAS 21% fewer sinners." Father Connelly seems impressed.

Religion, a part of every student's life, is a now and moving subject. This year, to supplement classroom instruction, a retreat, a Pre-Cana Conference, and numerous folksong Masses were held on campus. Together they made Religion not only a part but an encounter in every student.

a Now Subject

"DISCUSSING THE MEANING of true womanhood," Father Connelly gives food-for-thought during the annual retreat.

"NOW WHEN I was a girl, uh..." Doctor Spezia presents both laughs and facts.

TEN YEARS AND three children later, Mrs. McCauley returns to SAA as a guest speaker at the Senior Marriage Course.

Core of the Communication Arts

Speech, speed reading, vocabulary, grammar and literature - all contributed toward the basic aims of the English department; to enable students to interpret the ideas of others as well as effectively express their own.

OVERWHELMED BY THE masterpieces surrounding her during the Festival of Arts, Pat Gilmartin finds concentrating a difficult task.

INDIVIDUAL ATTENTION. EXCELLENT machinery and the help of Sr. Mary Ellen-all contribute to the speed reading course.

"UNA HAMBURGUESA Y una coca-cola por favor," Spanish students practice useful expressions in their own cafe.

Intriguing Students . . . Languages

GERMAN STUDENTS PERFECT accents and their comprehension through the use of the new language lab.

ANCIENT ROMAN LIFE in replica fascinates Sister Albertine's Latin students.

The Language Department, offering Spanish, Latin, German, and French strives to give the students a broad education, teaching not only the fundamentals of the language but the cultural background of the country as well.

Acquiring Skills . . . Business

A course that can grow and expand to keep up with the fast moving world of today, Business includes more than just typing and shorthand. Students become acquainted with addressographs, masters and the most recent developments in business.

FIELD TRIPS INCLUDED a visit to the IBM building.

LETTERS TO MIKE were easy when Vickie used the addressograph.

INVOLVED IN ONE of the duplicating machines, Kathy Keith adds art work to a bulletin.

Achieving Fitness . . .

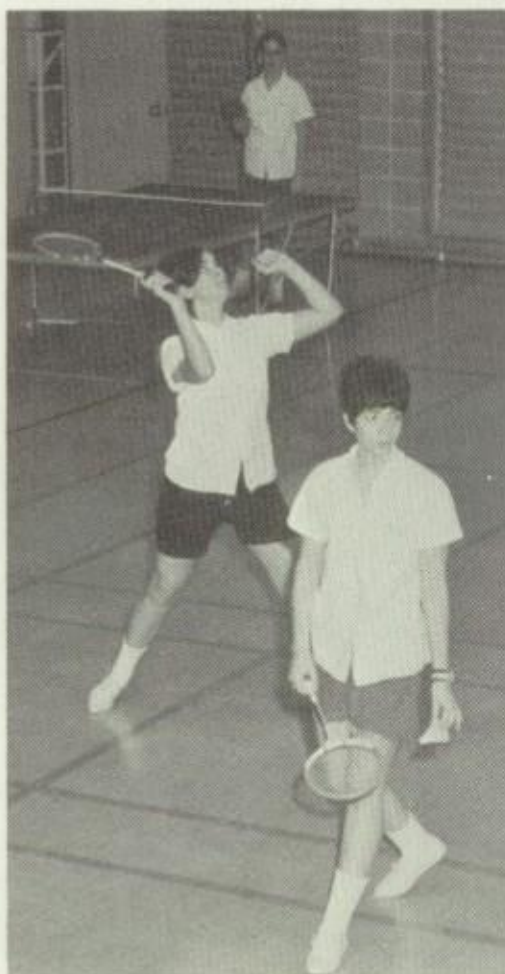

DEEP KNEE BENDS are included in the routine exercises for Physical Education classes.

Bodily health and personal development are the goals of the Physical Education Department.

Gym sessions, teaching physical skills, are supplemented by biweekly classes in Health. Varied sports such as archery, basketball, volleyball and badminton teach students the value of good sportsmanship.

"WATCH THE AIM" Mrs. Souriall this year's addition to the staff, corrects her students.

KEEPING THE GAME going isn't as easy as it looks.

VARIATIONS IN ACTIVITIES include ping pong and badminton for class members.

Physical Education

FORM, STANCE, PROCEDURE, all play significant roles in hitting the birdie.

Activities

Orientation

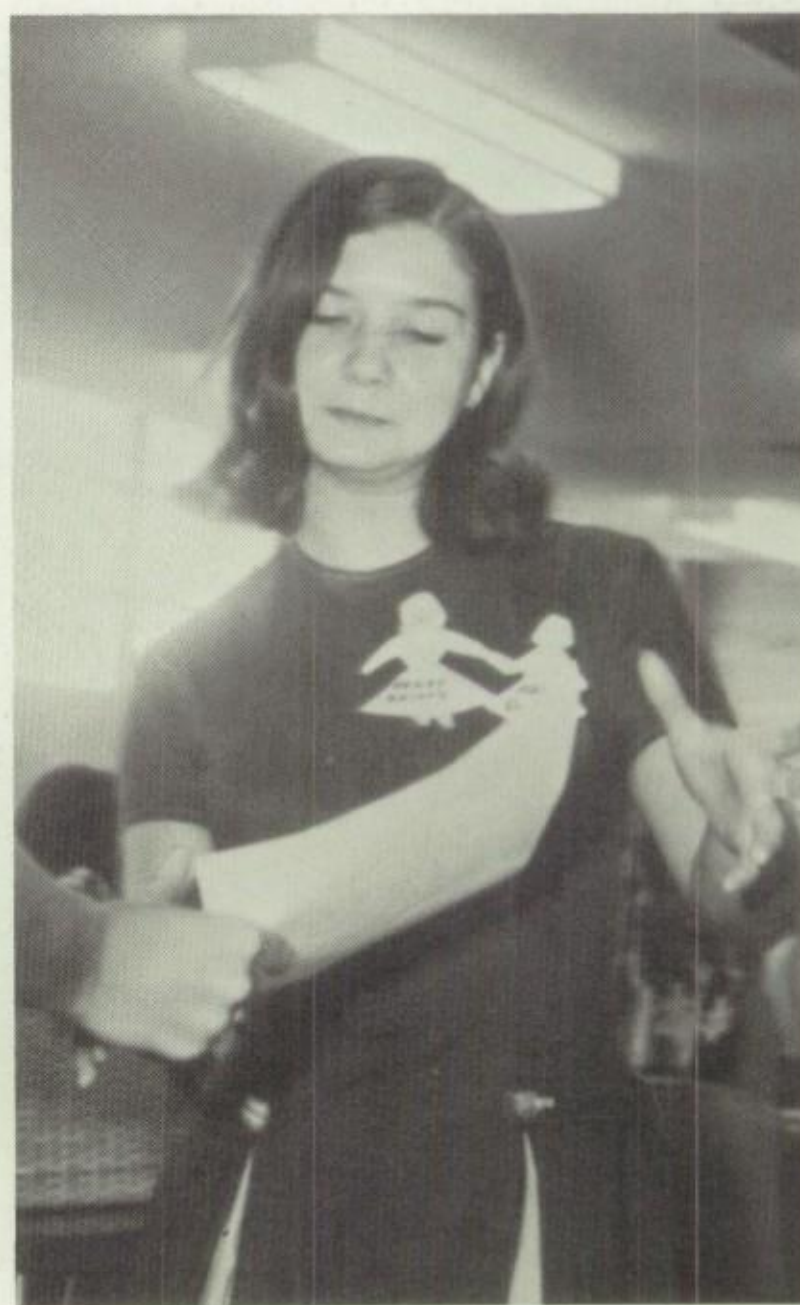

CARRYING THE BURDEN of the year's studies, senior Kathy Griffin attempts to grin and bear it.

The spirit of the Student Body became evident throughout Orientation Week, as each class put forth its best to make this week special. Seniors assume their role as big sisters; the Juniors finally make it as upperclassmen; the Sophomores relinquish their place to the incoming Freshmen; and the Fish adjust to their new surroundings. Activities for the whole school included a dance, featuring the Seven Sons, and an assembly which introduced various extracurricular activities.

THIS TIME EVEN Superman (alias Clark Kent) (alias Emilie DiRosa) had a part in the assembly.

CERTIFIED LITTLE SISTER, Molly Donovan reaches for the paper that makes it official.

SPIRITED RELAYS HELP classes become better acquainted.

Once a Dream, Now

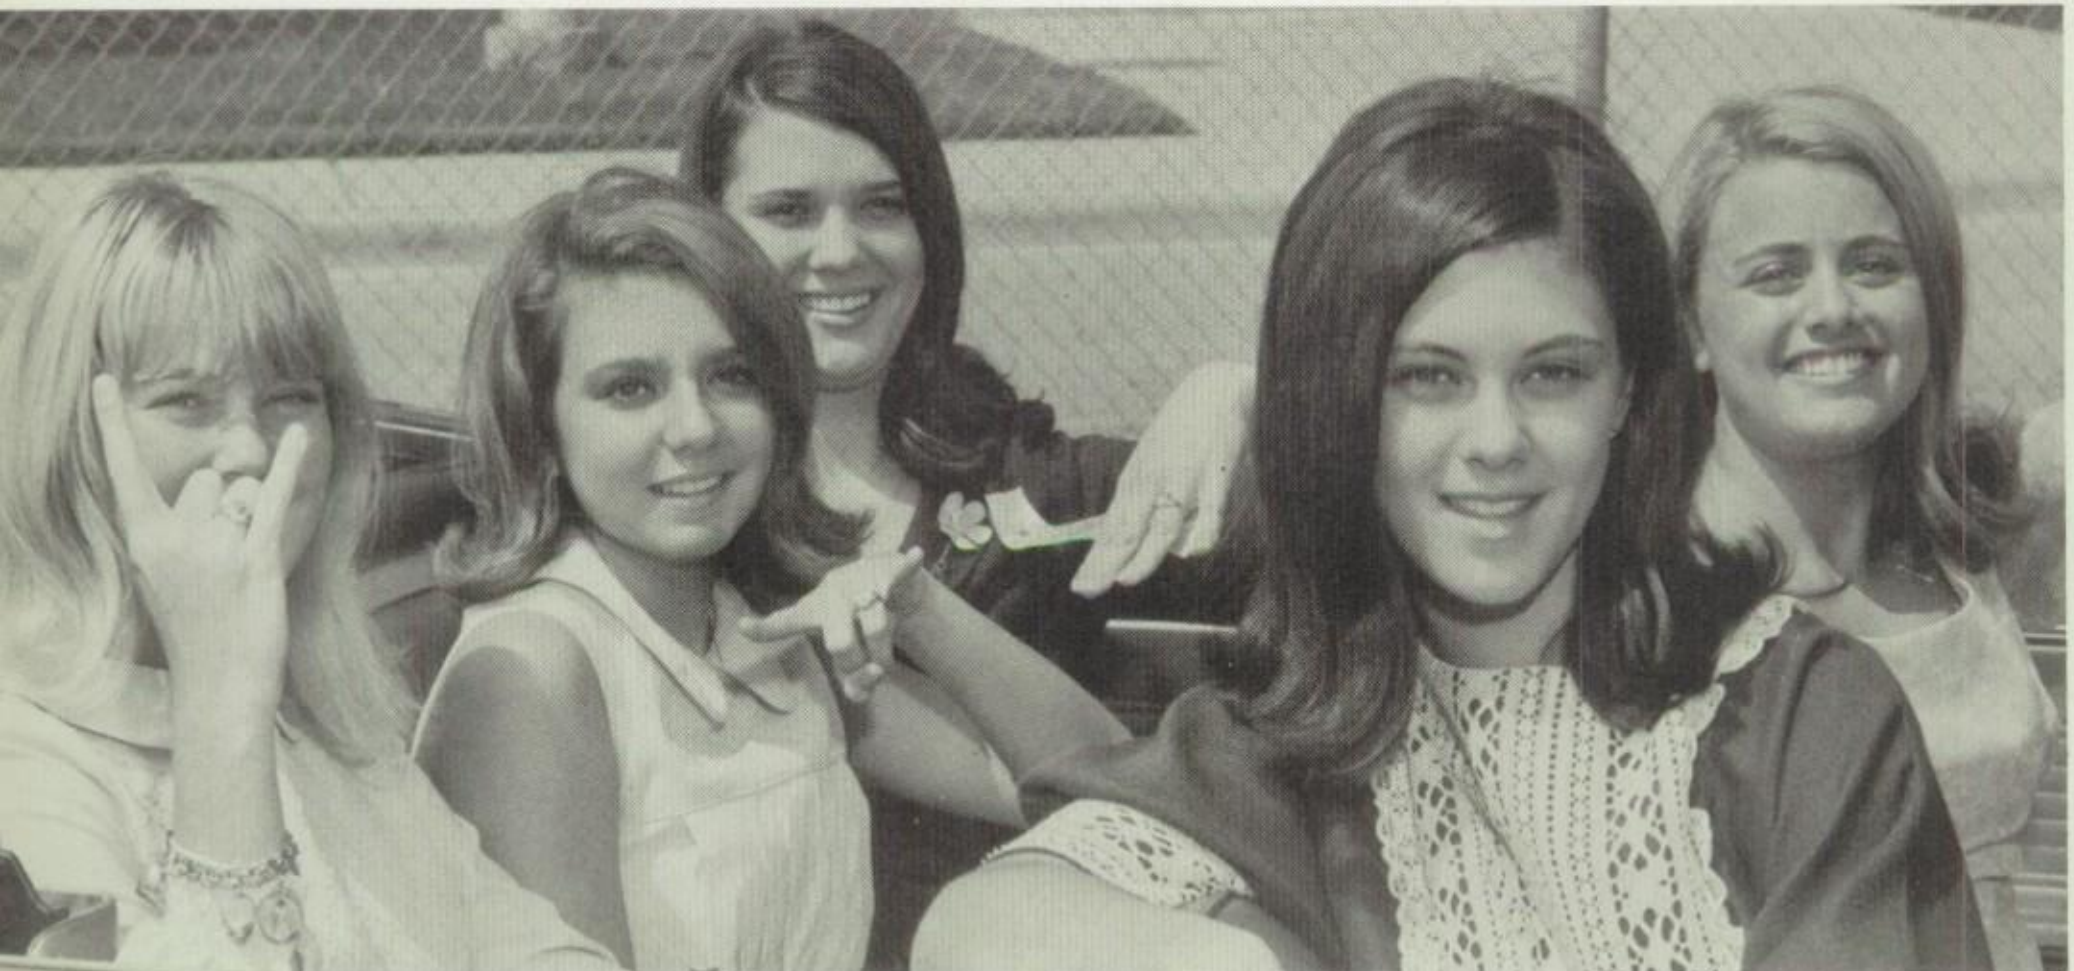

September 15 marked the first of many days the seniors will long remember. They received their senior rings from Father Kennelly, who emphasized their true meaning.

Then, feeling the solemnity of the occasion, the class of '67 sang for the first time the traditional senior song.

Finally, the year and its endeavors were committed to the care of the Holy Spirit.

APPREHENSION AS WELL as excitement was evident as seniors received their rings.

PREPARING TO DEPART on their first lunch privilege, seniors proudly display their newly-acquired rings.

BLESSING SENIOR RINGS, Father Kennelly prays that each girls may wear her ring proudly and live up to the ideals behind it.

BEGINNNING THE YEAR with a spiritual invocation, Father Beck leads the student body in the Mass of the Holy Spirit.

SOLEMN WORDS SUNG on a grand occasion, as seniors face the reality of their last year.

...BEING CHOSEN TO model the new look in the latest fashions of Neiman Marcus.

WINNING A SURFBOARD, a rabbit coat and checks ranging from $10 to $50 for selling the highest number of raffle tickets.

Success Is

Hard work and combined community effort served to make this year's Mothers' Club Card Party a record smashing success. The prizes rated among the finest that have ever been offered and the entire project raised the largest amount of money to date.

...SMILING SWEETLY WHILE clearing the table without spilling various and sundry things on various and sundry people.

...SPENDING FIFTY CENTS on a raffle ticket and winning a three thousand dollar Mustang, as Senior Caroline Rush can testify.

... "SERVING TEN PEOPLE from one tray?"

... SIX NO TRUMP in an enjoyable game of bridge.

... GOOD WEATHER FOR underclassmen and juniors who give up the cafeteria to the Mothers' Club annual event.

THREE WARDS OF Ko-Ko, Pitti-Sing (Patti Bass), Yum-Yum (Mary Southard), and Peep-Bo (Cheryl Fleming) sing "Three Little Maids from School".

ERRANT SON OF the Mikado, Nanki-Poo (Fred Himstedt) disguised as a wandering minstrel, sings of his love to Yum-Yum (Mary Southard).

In lieu of the usual fall musicale, the Music Department presented Gilbert and Sullivan's The Mikado on November 21, 22, 23. Co-stars in the role of Yum-yum were Mary Southard and Cathy Bergeron. Boys from St. Thomas High School, Westbury High School, and Houston Baptist College portrayed the masculine roles. Choral accompaniment was provided by the Pius X Schola.

PREPARING FOR HER role as Yum-Yum, Cathy Bergeron finds Cheryl Fleming an able assistant.

"MERCY FOR KO-KO," pleads Katisha (Suzanne White), as the stern Mikado prepares to sentence him to death.

MIKADO

LORD HIGH EXECUTIONER of Titipu, (Douglas Henry), sings to the ladies of the city "I've Got a Little List".

"I WASN'T EVEN there!" protests a worried Lord High Everything Else, (Jim Shanahan), when accused of Nanki-Poo's execution.

When they needed a "Bablene" for Andora, they called on us. When they needed variety in lunchroom companions, they called on us. When they needed rebel-rousing spirit in the bandstands, they called on us. Still the masculine element prevailed throughout, and that is what they gave in return.

1967 JESUIT CHEERLEADERS are Carol Welder, Don Bouchard, Donna Waters, Paul Barron, Julie Cecala, Abner Burnitt, Jenny Dunn (Duchesne) and Edwin Murr.

Our Ally and Old Friend . . .

Giving their energy and spirit to urge the team to victory, and their tears when they fail, St. Agnes girls have participated with St. Thomas as cheerleaders, spectators and candidates for homecoming queen. In addition they have joined them in stage productions, volleyball games and other projects to bring these student bodies together.

The Many Faces of Christmas

A Christmas Tableau, seasonal plays: "The Littlest Angel" and "Four in a Tower", the annual party given by the seniors... all helped to make Christmas 1967 a memorable one.

PIXIES, ELVES AND even living dolls sing and play guitars to liven up the Christmas party given by the Seniors.

MR. AND MRS. Claus could be anyone from LBJ and Lady Bird to Connie Burdick and Pat Bart.

Christmas Dance . . .

The annual Christmas Dance was held December 27 in the Emerald Room of the Shamrock Hilton. The Interns provided the music.

FLICKERING CANDLELIGHT CONTRIBUTES to the solemnity of the refrains of the senior song.

Momentous occasions are seldom recognized. April 16, seniors were received into the Alumnae of St. Agnes Academy, dropped the role of ordinary student, and took up the role of graduate-to-be.

ALUMNAE OFFICERS ARE: Miss Mary Ann Chambers, president; Mrs. Anne Reeves, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Phyllis Ottis, vice-president.

"WHEN CAN WE please, go home?" The many hours of rehearsals are taking their toll.

"SO, THERE'S NO room for me!" Laurel (Genie Grillis) rejects her mother (Pat Miller) despite Miss Madrigal's pleading.

Take thousands of meaningless lines, and twelve individuals; add hundreds of hours of tedious rehearsals; result--a senior play well-deserving of merit.

March 30 and 31 were the days the cast finally proved that all the work had not been in vain, and all those flowers really did have a meaning in "The Chalk Garden."

"YOUNG LADY, I'M not in the habit of discussing murders," Miss Madrigal (Mary Kay Schuelke) curtly replies to Laurel. (Prissi Hunsaker)

FUGITIVE FROM THE beach? No, just Buster Peek as "Puppy."

"O. K. . . who took the hammer?" Four minutes before curtain time, Kay Donahue begins final preparations.

"PROMISE HER ANYTHING, promise her the garden!" Laurel begs her grandmother (Dolores Portugal) to make amends with Miss Madrigal.

AFTER WEEKS BACKSTAGE, Miss Broomfield finally gets her well-deserved curtain call.

"YOU FLUB AND you are dead!" A hurried prayer and whispered encouragement are the final touches before curtain time.

SOME COULD HAVE danced

AS THE FINAL hour draws near, silent partners share the last moments of the night that was.

Neither rain, nor storm, nor threat of flood could prevent the seniors from attending their prom.

Anxiety, excitement--and then it was over. Seniors had put the final touch on a year well spent May 25, at the Junior League.

IT TOOK FOUR years to reach the short walk to the auditorium to celebrate Madonna Day as graduates to be.

... Madonna Day

The beauty of a traditional ceremony was resplendent on Madonna Day, May 25.

The day's activities included the addresses of the Valedictorian and Salutatorian and the crowning of the Virgin. Caps and gowns worn officially and long stemmed roses given by the little sisters made it a memorable occasion.

"NONSENSE, GIRLS," TYPICALLY exclaims Father Connelly as he brings us to the realization that our religion must mature as we become women.

AN AWARD WINNING essay takes Pat Rexer to San Antonio for the annual convention of German Students. (TAGS)

The End and the Beginning ... Graduation

SENATOR HENRY GROVER addresses the graduates in a relevant speech on problems facing each generation.

Four years of fun and hardship, pranks and punishments, laughter and tears were brought to an end May 25, as the class of 1967 graduated.

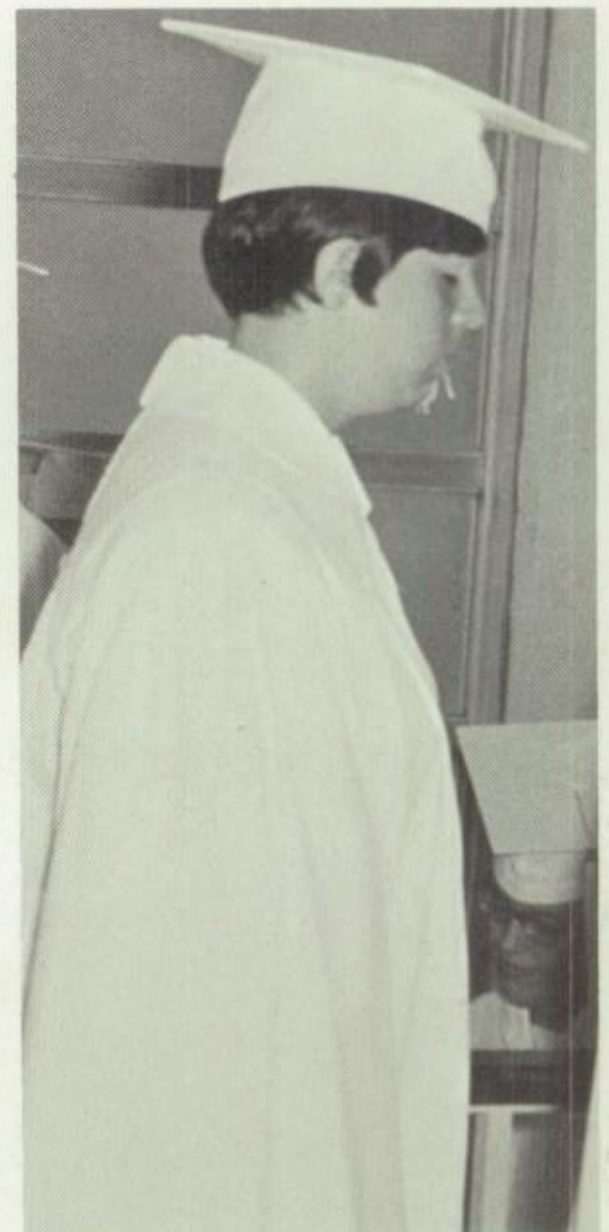

Following a pertinent talk by Senator Henry Grover on the generation gap, seniors received their diplomas and a warm handshake from Msgr. Cassata.

The lovely ceremony, the presence of loved ones, the realization of the end - all made it an occasion to be proud of.

EAGERNESS, EXCITEMENT, HAPPINESS are all experienced during the graduation march.

DIPLOMA AND CONGRATULATIONS go hand in hand.

"I DON'T KNOW if I can face the music."

but True"

FRESHMAN SONG OF THE CLASS OF 1967.

Be kind to the freshmen and they do deserve it Remember the freshmen, a difficult stage in life.

We're apt to be nervous, and overexcited
Confused by the daily storm and strife.

So keep in mind
Though it seems hard, we know
Most seniors once were freshmen long ago.
"Incredible!"

So treat us with kindness and sweet understanding
No matter the foolish things we do;
'Cause some day you'll wake up
And find we are seniors, too.
"Incredible but true!"

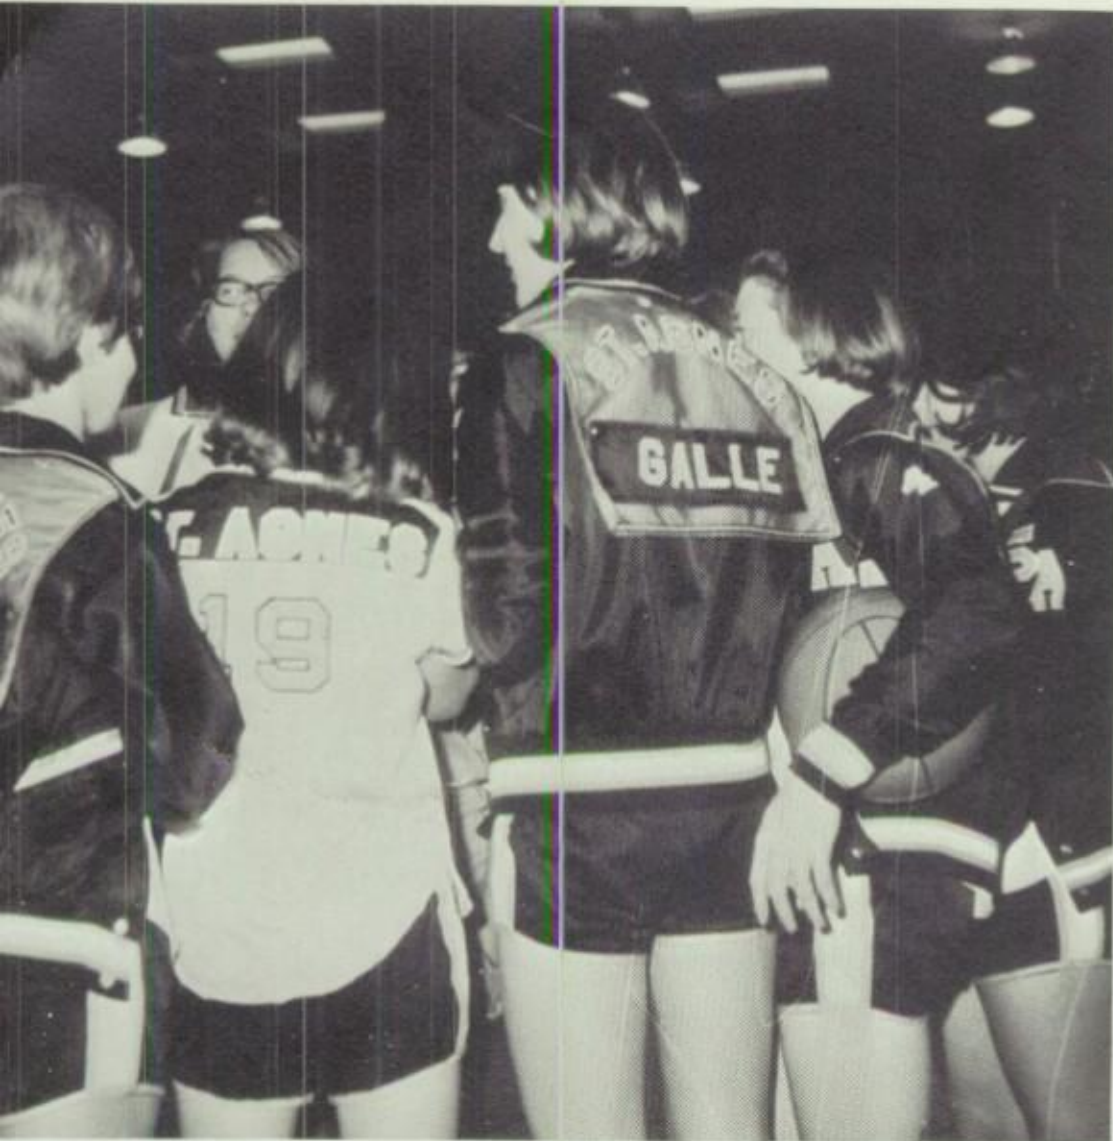

IF ONLY JIM could see me now.

HOW DID A nice class like ours ever end up with a thing like this?

Art Club . . . Gets Around

In Room 204 at the end of the upstairs hall, on a deserted Friday afternoon, a group of anxious and conscientious students move to action. All class ranks are well represented and there is only one prerequisite--the desire and ambition to gain a fuller knowledge of the fine arts. This center of interest is the Fra Angelico Art Club; the sponsor is Sr. Matthias. The product is creativity--in many forms.

ART CLUB OFFICERS are Peggy Reilly, president; Marianne La Point, secretary-treasurer; Terri Burdick, vice-president.

WHO'S BREATHING?

Library Takes on New Outlook

While the student body is the very heart of a school, the various clubs and activities are its pulse beats. One very important nerve center of St. Agnes is the library, providing students with a peaceful place for study and research. Helping to provide such an atmosphere is the Library Club, this year under the supervision of Miss Jane Cox.

WAITING FOR LIBRARY assistants to assist...

FOR MOST STUDENTS the library offers a tranquil quiet which allows knowledge to "sink in."

TO THE LEFT we have several books that will prove interesting and most helpful to a large minority of our student body.

Favorites

A boundless supply of energy, initiative and a congenial nature mark Mary Nell Crapitto as a tried and true leader of the class of '68.

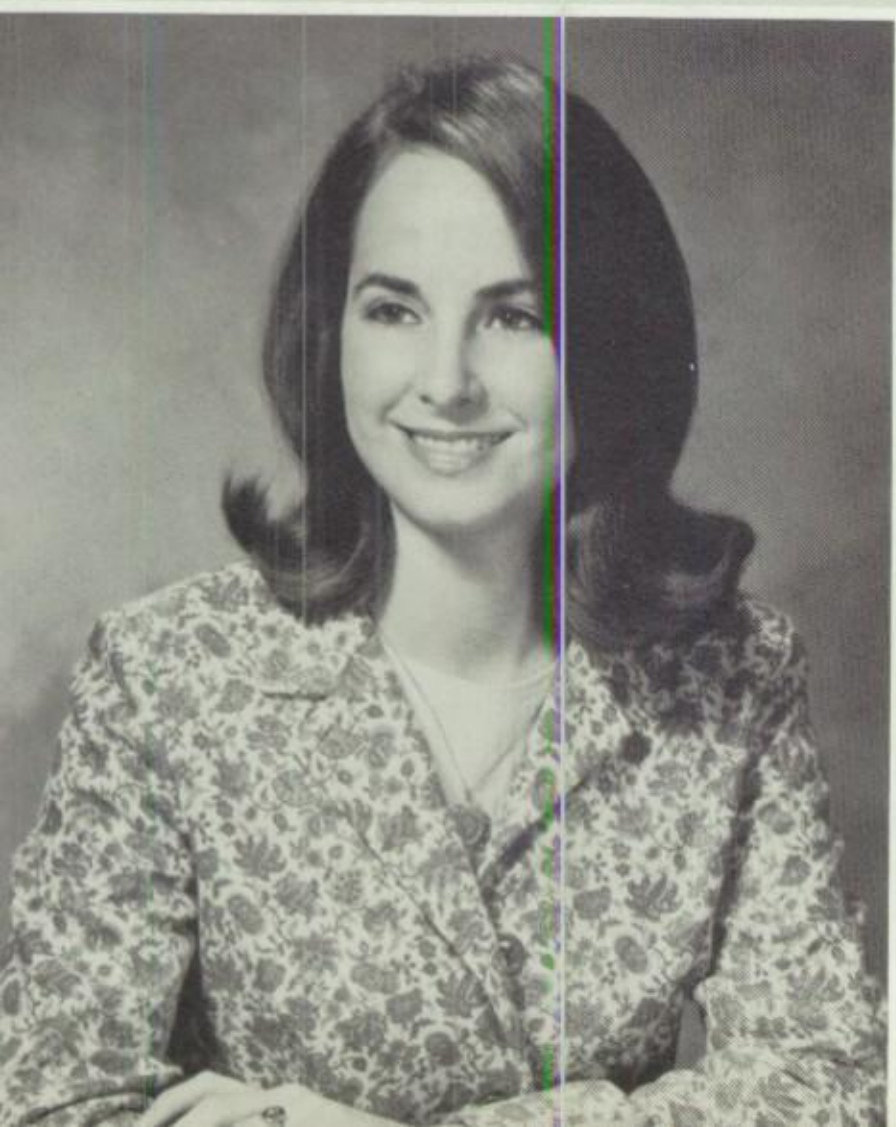

Quick to adapt to any new circumstance and to make her class stand out, Lena Pizzitola was chosen by the freshmen as their Most Representative.

Possessing qualities of integrity, dependability and enthusiasm, Debbie Mustachia is the sophomores' definition of Most Representative.

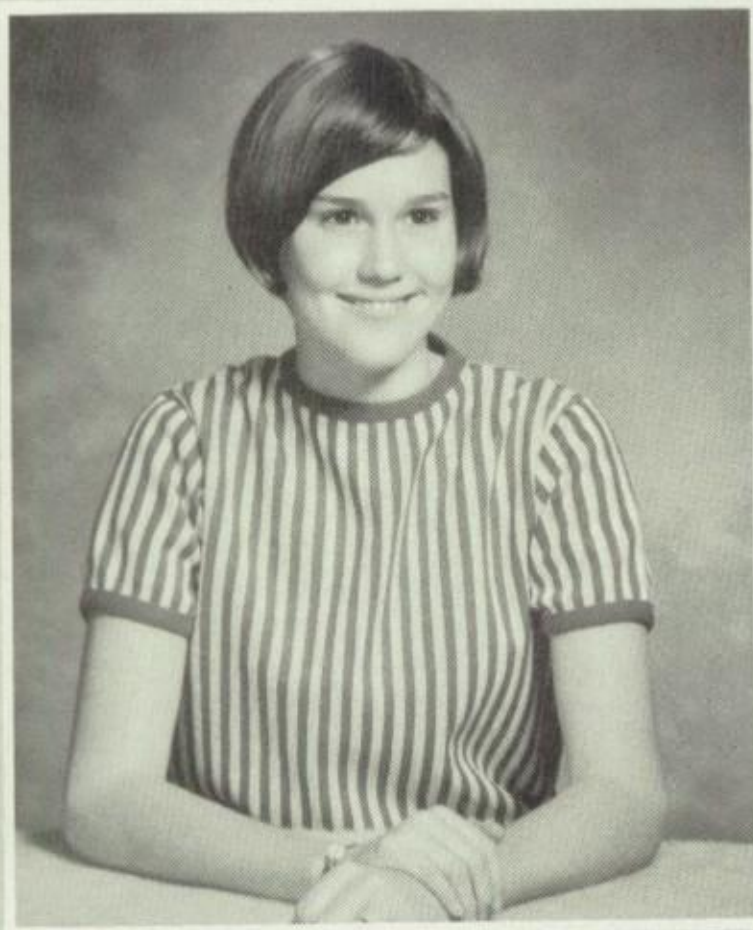

Determination and perseverance are distinctive in Janet Badeaux. Forever offering ideas and lightening the load of any class project - this is our senior Most Representative.

Most Representative

Possessing those dependable qualities that a class relies on, besides scholarship and character, Diana Dilworth merited the recognition of senior runner-up.

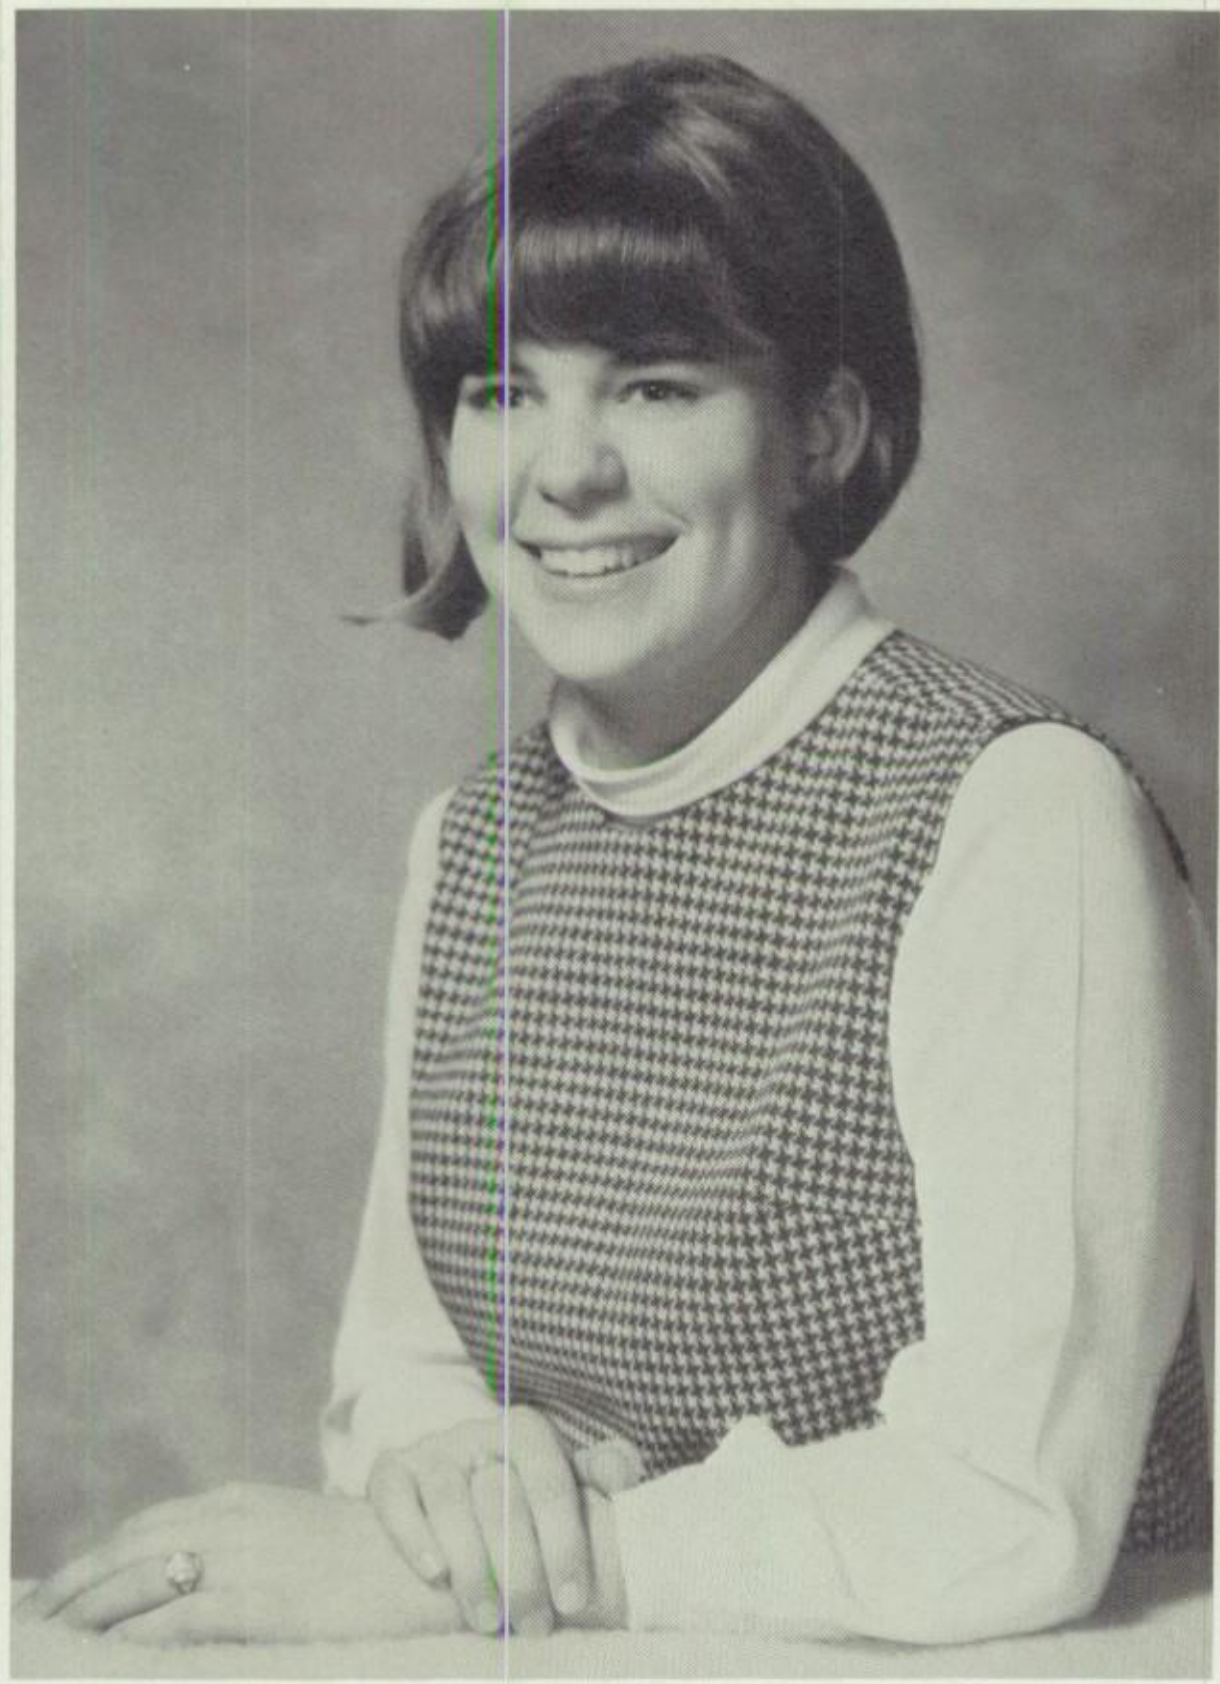

The spirit behind the action is what the juniors looked for in their Most Popular. The spirit is Kath Heard, the action is wherever she goes.

Enthusiasm, compatibility and an outgoing personality are the freshmen's idea of Most Popular. This idea is put into action by Jane Seger.

The girl who is "in" with everyone possesses rare qualities of friendship and genuine likability--this girl is Doni Caspersen, the sophomores choice of Most Popular.

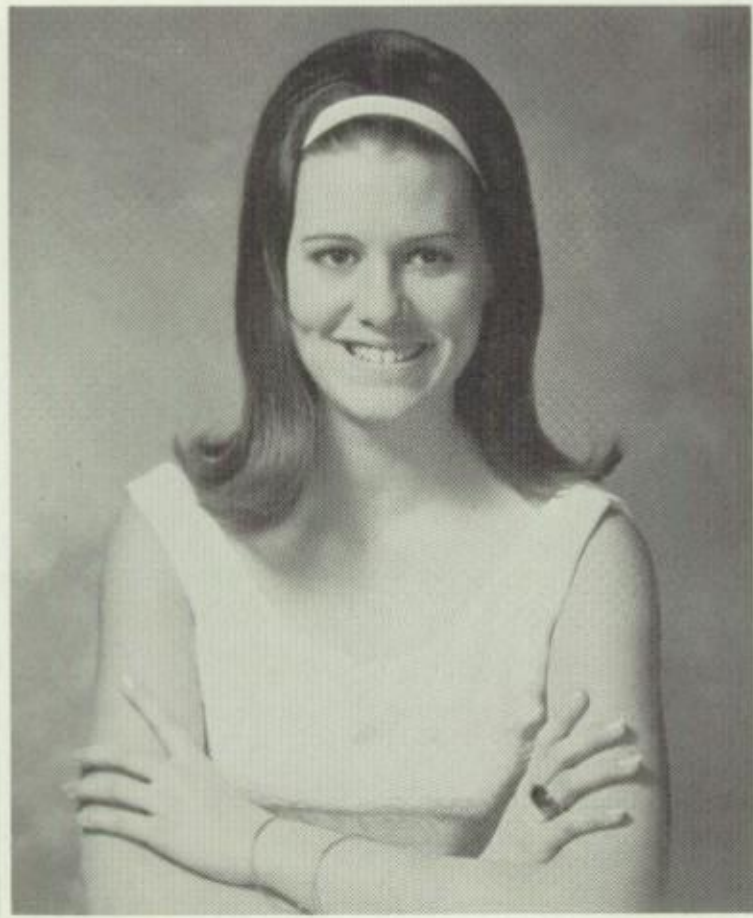

Warmth and friendliness in a person catches on - with Mary Lou Machol, the seniors caught on fast. Recognizing her spontaneous sense of humor, they honored her with the coveted title of Most Popular.

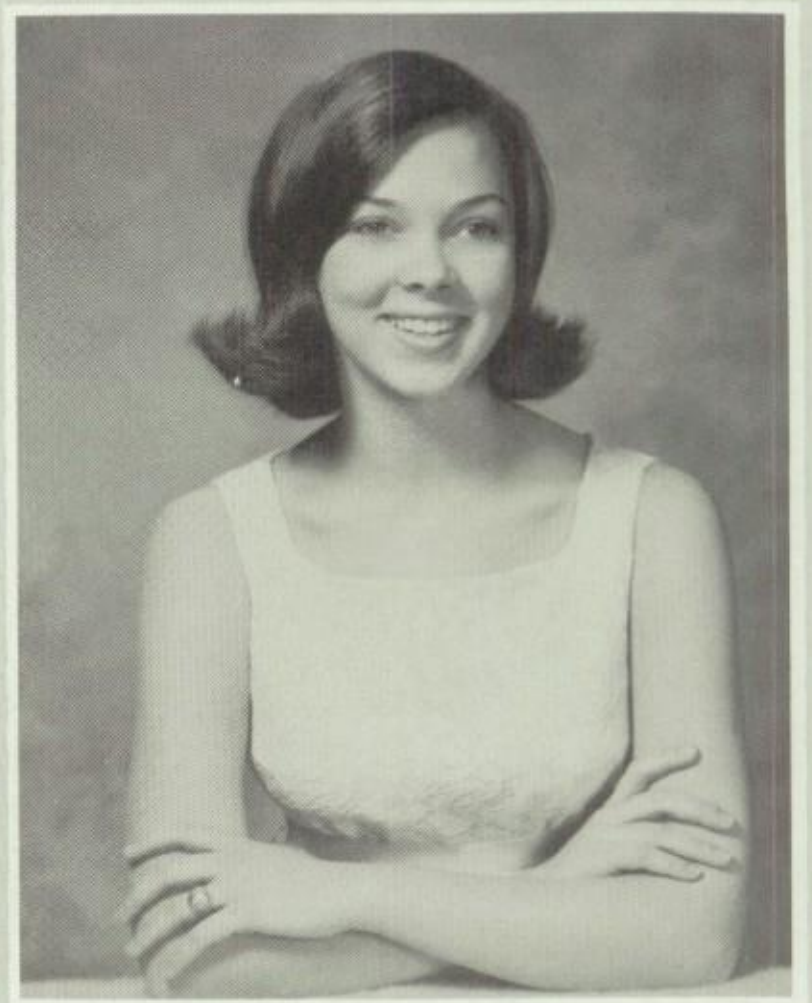

Most Popular

People are a thousand times a thousand but truly delightful people are one times one. This attribute is clearly mirrored by Kay Donahue, gaining for her Senior runner-up.

Outer beauty is a gift, but inner beauty comes from one's own efforts. The juniors favored both in Linda Dilworth, their Most Beautiful.

A bewitching smile enhancing the beauty of Brenda Snelling won for her the freshman class' approval of Most Beautiful.

Radiant eyes and a graceful figure are a few of the many assets which have made Shirley Buvens the Most Beautiful Sophomore.

A warm smile, a lovely complexion, poise and sophisticated charm; all of this has been recognized by the senior class, giving Carol Welder the title of Most Beautiful.

Most Beautiful

Possessing rare, flawless beauty won for Julie Cecala recognition as runner-up for Most Beautiful Senior.

ONLY YEARS HENCE will we fully appreciate the advice given by Father McDonald during the Marriage Course.

Involved in acknowledging the product of man's labors.

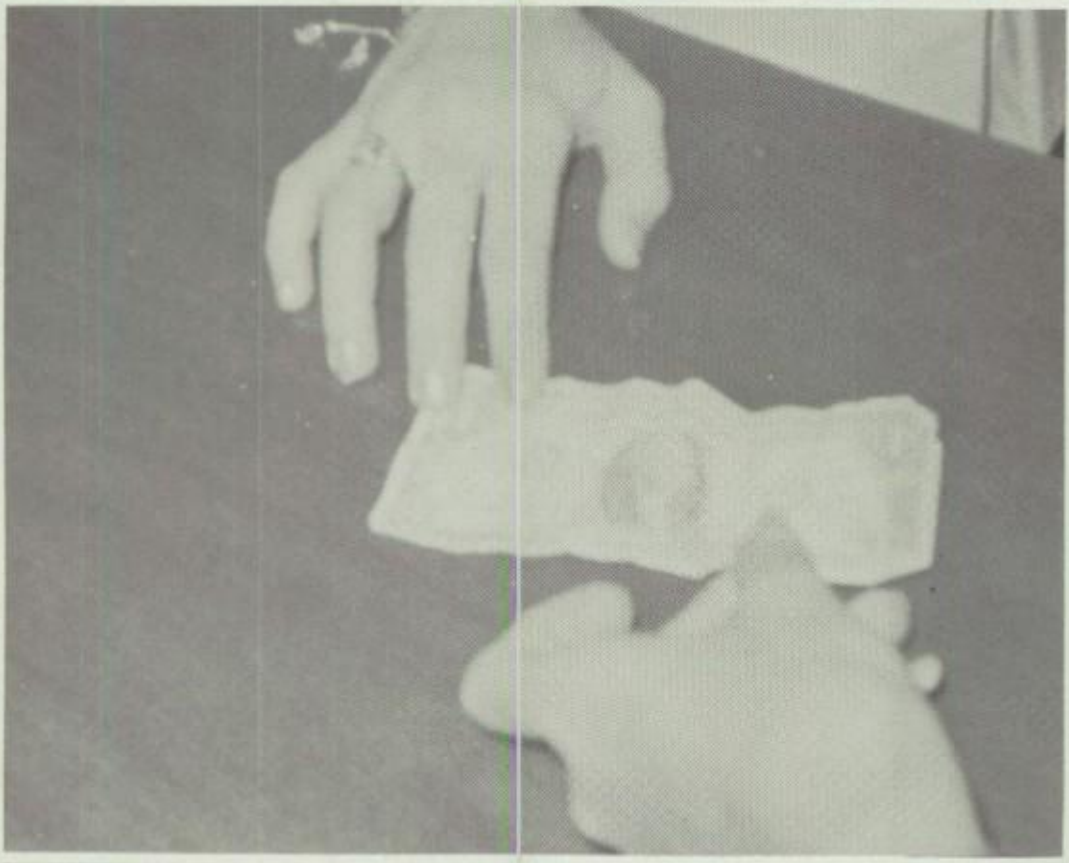

... food, for the sustaining of man's very existence;

... drugs to protect man physically;

... clothes to cover him;

... the dollar whose importance grows each day;

... the city where man lives.

Mary Sue,

well I can hardly believe that I've gotten through 3 years and only one more to go! God - it went so fast.
But it was great & I don't know what I would have done without you there. I doubt I'd have stayed as long. You really have been great & a tremendous person and a friend I'll always be grateful for. Thanks for just being you.
You're someone everyone admires and loves. Never change and please go KEITH PLUMBING far. Not that this is an authority but surely if any one has potential ^{with the} ~~in~~ character and personality it's you. I knew you'd be happy HEATING COMPANY because you always have been. Pray for me & don't ever forget what good friends we are no matter where we are this time next year.
Never hesitate to ask me for any favor. I'd do any thing for you & I know we'll remain friends for a long time to come. Don't forget cocktails every evening at 5:00.

Well, this is our last year here at S.A.A. We've had a lot of great times together: staying up all night making campaign signs for when you ran for president, laughing at acting stupid, getting in trouble etc. When you go to college please write me & keep in touch Remember you're going to be in my wedding & I'm going to be in yours. Mary hell, you're really a great girl & I love ya a lot.
Don't worry about anything. You've got it made. You'll probably meet some tuff guy who really does love you a lot. And you'll probably have a million kids. And you know what? I'm going to be your first child's god-mother.
Promise? Please? Mary hell, please don't ever forget me. You're a great friend & you'll always be. We'll have a great senior year, as long as you're President.
Stay the same always & you go a long way. Love ya
Donna

Tribute to the class of 1967.

A ring... a tassel...
a mascot...
a school diploma in your hand.

That sudden feeling of regret that endings always bring,
and yet...
mingled joy...
The dream come true
a wonderful beginning too.

A ring... a tassel...
One chapter past,
To the class of 1967
A future that is yours at last.

"Homo Sum: Humani Nihil a Me Alienum Puto"

The school year is at an end. Summer brings departure from familiar places - separation from familiar faces. The Class of 1967 completes four years of study at the new school, yet continues the involvement begun and cultivated therein. Times may change and their individual involvement increase, but it is hoped that the ideals developed and the moral values instilled from such an education may never change in any manner.

The pace of life increasing every second, leaves much more to be accomplished in each day than there is time to do it in. "Doing" can become such a habit, that "feeling" is an unknown experience. Emotions soon become second to action. Without faith, however, and without the basic emotion of love, we can find ourselves less than human - mere vegetable or machines. The answer lies in values once learned so well that hopefully these will never be forgotten.

Mary Nell,

These past years have really been fun but I figure this should be the best with you behind us 100 per cent. Good luck always in everything but please don't end up at Texas or you won't be worth talking to. Try calling sometime we do have phones now. Stay sweet.

Love ya,
Marilyn -

Mary Nell,
You're the tuffest and best'est kid I know! Stay cute and sweet and white headed! You're really great! This year has to be the best ever and it will cause we'll make it that way!

Love ya!
Liz

Nellie Bell,

I know you'd be the best big sister I wish I could be a fish. Cathy but I love you! I know you'll have a blast with her Love always Paulyn

Mary Nell,

It's been great knowing you & working with you. Stay sweet & you'll be the greatest!

Love ya
Muri Salido

Mary Nell,
Keep up the good work has President. Our Senior you has got to be the Greatest Love ya
Mikie
